What the Day Owes the Night Librinova
 Londres - 1895 Un après sa miraculeuse réapparition du royaume des morts, Sherlock Holmes, escorté du docteur Watson, est appelé pour résoudre une étrange affaire de disparition dans le milieu de l'athlétisme britannique. L'enquête, pleine de rebondissements, va les mener des terrains d'entraînement des Kensington Gardens au plus profond des sordides quartiers des docks de la Tamise où règne la loi de sinistres tueurs. Ils croiseront au cours de cette affaire quelques-uns des plus grands athlètes britanniques, des célébrités du monde littéraire et certaines des plus jolies femmes de Londres. Quant à la charmante mais très énigmatique madame Hudson, toujours intime de Sherlock Holmes, celle-ci pourrait se révéler n'être pas seulement la vieille logeuse écossaise du 221B de Baker Street.

Institution and Passivity Hachette Fictions
 "Its relevance lashes you across the face." —Stephen Metcalf, The Los Angeles Times • "A redemptive book, one that wills the reader to believe, even in a time of despair." —Roger Lowenstein, The Washington Post A haunting tale of human resilience and hope in the face of unrelieved horror, Albert Camus' iconic novel about an epidemic ravaging the people of a North African coastal town is a classic of twentieth-century literature. The townspeople of Oran are in the grip of a deadly plague, which condemns its victims to a swift and horrifying death. Fear, isolation and claustrophobia follow as they are forced into quarantine. Each person responds in their own way to the lethal disease: some resign themselves to fate, some seek blame, and a few, like Dr. Rieux, resist the terror. An immediate triumph when it was published in 1947, The Plague is in part an allegory of France's suffering under the Nazi occupation, and a timeless story of bravery and determination against the precariousness of human existence.

Institution and Passivity is based on course notes for classes taught at the Bibliothèque Nationale de Paris. Philosophically, this collection connects the issue of passive constitution of meaning with the dimension of history, furthering discussions and completing arguments started in The Visible and the Invisible and Signs (both published by Northwestern). Leonard Lawlor and Heath Massey's translation makes available to an English-speaking readership a critical transitional text in the history of phenomenology.

 While his preoccupation with the period of the Occupation remains a permanent theme, Patrick Modiano is increasingly interested in the exploration of time and memory, and the attendant problem of reconstituting the past. This volume explores all these features. It casts new light on Modiano's earliest novels, examines afresh his more recent work including his stories for children, situates it in the context of contemporary writing and unravels the intricacies and subtleties of his style. It underlines Modiano's position as one of France's major writers of the twentieth and twenty-first centuries and will be of interest to all who are interested in the modern French novel and the complex interactions between fiction and history.

 'Darling, this is Younes. Yesterday he was my nephew, today he is our son'. Younes' life is changed forever when his poverty-stricken parents surrender him to the care of his more affluent uncle. Re-named Jonas, he grows up in a colourful colonial Algerian town, and forges a unique friendship with a group of boys, an enduring bond that nothing - not even the Algerian Revolt - will shake. He meets Emilie - a beautiful, beguiling girl who captures the hearts of all who see her - and an epic love story is set in motion. Time and again Jonas is forced to choose between two worlds: Algerian or European; past or present; love or loyalty, and finally decide if he will surrender to fate or take control of his own destiny at last. Tout d'abord modeste abri pour les plantes fragiles puis grandes cathédrales de cristal dont s'enrichissent les plus beaux jardins botaniques, la serre est aujourd'hui un lieu de protection et de conservation des espèces en danger. Mais cet espace tempéré et lumineux est devenu surtout une pièce à vivre : une pièce « verte » remplie de plantes qui permet de retrouver à tout moment le contact avec la nature. Le jardin d'hiver fait rentrer le jardin dans la maison et offre le délicieux plaisir de vivre parmi les plantes et les fleurs à l'abri des intempéries. Un lieu idéal pour rêver, lire, se reposer, recevoir des amis ; une pièce en plus ouvrant sur le jardin, ou plus simplement sur une terrasse ou un balcon. Ce livre donne l'occasion de comprendre l'engouement que suscitent ces constructions d'acier et de verre : il invite à un voyage dans le temps et dans l'espace à la découverte de ces lieux publics spectaculaires et offre au lecteur la possibilité de pénétrer dans des endroits intimes plus secrets ; tels ces jardins d'hiver privés qui sont devenus salons, salle à manger, cuisine ou bureau. Cet ouvrage s'impose comme une source d'inspiration précieuse - enrichie par un carnet d'adresses - pour qui rêve de créer ce jardin intérieur baigné de lumière et à l'abri du vent.

This exquisite novel tells the story of one of the most compelling heroines in modern literature—Emma Bovary. "Madame Bovary has a perfection that not only stamps it, but that makes it stand almost alone; it holds itself with such a supreme unapproachable assurance as both excites and defies judgement." - Henry James Unhappily married to a devoted, clumsy provincial doctor, Emma revolts against the ordinariness of her life by pursuing voluptuous dreams of ecstasy and love. But her sensuous and sentimental desires lead her only to suffering corruption and downfall. A brilliant psychological portrait, Madame Bovary searingly depicts the human mind in search of transcendence. Who is Madame Bovary? Flaubert's answer to this question was superb: "Madame Bovary, c'est moi." Acclaimed as a masterpiece upon its publication in 1857, the work catapulted Flaubert to the ranks of the world's greatest novelists. This volume, with its fine translation by Lowell Bair, a perceptive introduction by Leo Bersani, and a complete supplement of essays and critical comments, is the indispensable Madame Bovary.

Tierno Monémbo was among the African authors invited to Rwanda after the 1994 Tutsi-Hutu massacre to write genocide into memory. In his novel The Oldest Orphan, that is precisely what Monémbo does, to devastating effect. Powerful testimony to an unspeakable historical reality, this story is told by an adolescent on death row in a prison in Kigali, the capital of Rwanda. Dispassionately, almost cynically, the teenager Faustin tells his tale, alternating between his days in jail, his adventures wandering the countryside after his parents and most of the people of his village have been massacred, and his escapades as a cheerful hoodlum in the streets of Kigali. Only slowly does the full horror of his parents' death and his own experience return to Faustin. His realization strikes the reader with shattering force, for it carries in its wake the impossible but inescapable questions presented by such a murderous episode of history and such a crippling experience for a child, a people, and a nation.

L'Affaire des disparus des Kensington Gardens Routledge

A classic of modern French literature, the thrilling real-life story of the military hero, ambassador, ladies man, writer, and loving son "I grew up in the certitude that one day I should help give back the earth to those who ennobled it with their courage and warm it with their love." Promise at Dawn begins as the story of a mother's sacrifice: alone and poor, she fiercely battles to give her son the very best. Romain Gary chronicles his childhood in Russia, Poland, and on the French Riviera and recounts his adventurous life as a young man fighting for France in World War II. But above all he tells the story of the love for his mother that was his life—their secret and private planet, their wonderland "born out of a mother's murmur into a child's ear, a promise whispered at dawn of future triumphs and greatness, of justice and love."
