ELIEZER NICKOLAS

The Handmade Candle

Llewellyn

Candle making dates
back to early America,
and was created
mainly as a necessity for light. Today we

enjoy watching the flickering light from our candle, and are relaxed by the soothing aroma that fills the room. My desire to create
candles began years
ago when we had our cabin "Up North." Our neighbor raised bees,
which consequently
lead to my interest in the bee hive and all its natural contents. My task began by melting the pieces of bee hive in a pot of water. After the wax cooled, I was amazed to find a thick layer of golden colored wax floating on the top. The air was filled with this great honey scented aroma. A new hobby was born. Candle making supplies were hard to come by, and that necessitated some creative thinking and lots of trial by error. I documented my success, and began my quest for unique supplies that could be utilized for molds. The books that were available required you to purchase expensive molds to complete you candle project. My book shows you that you can utilize supplies for molds that you probably already have around your house, or you can find what you need at a garage sale. In this book each step-by-step instruction is written so that any novice can be successful with each of my 29 candle projects. I encourage each of you to be creative by using your own ideas for molds, not just limit yourself to my ideas. You will find that you will now look at jars, cans, or cups dreaming of how they can be used as a mold. Cathy's Candles will teach you to "Create Candles by Reusing & Recycling." Through this book I hope to inspire people to explore the joys and rewards of candle making and to keep the tradition of candle making alive!

Candle Making for Beginners Driven Literary Illumination examines the relationship between literature and artificial illumination, demonstrating that developments of lighting technology during the nineteenth century definitively altered the treatment of light as symbol, metaphor and textual motif. Correspondingly, the book also engages with the changing nature of darkness, and how the influence of artificial light altered both public perceptions of, and behaviour within, darkness, as well as examining literary chiaroscuro. Within each of four main chapters dedicated to the analysis of a single dominant light source in the long nineteenth-century – firelight, candlelight, gaslight, and electric light – the author considers the phenomenological properties of the light sources, and where their presence would be felt most strongly in the nineteenth century, before collating a corpus of texts for each light source and environment.
