The Merveilleux in Chrétien de Troyes' Romances Walter de Gruyter

A majority of the chapters in this book were originally presented as papers at a conference held at Queen's University Belfast in September 2006. The volume explores the oral-written dynamic in the conte français/francophone, focusing on key aspects of the relationship between oral and written forms of the conte. The chapters fall into four broad thematic areas (the oral-written dynamic in early modern France; literary appropriations and transformations; postcolonial contexts; storytelling in contemporary France: linguistic strategies). Within these broad areas, some chapters deal with sources and influences (such as that of written on oral and vice versa), others with the nature of the discourse resulting from an oral-written dynamic (discourse structure, linguistic features etc.), some with the oral-written interface as it affects the definition of genre, others with the role of the 'oral' within the literary or written text (use of storytelling scenarios, the problematics inherent in transcribing/adapting the spoken word etc.). This chronological and methodological range allows us to situate the emergence of the form in socio-cultural and historical terms, and to open up debate around the role of the conte in particular geographical and political contexts: regional, national, European and postcolonial. This book contains contributions in both English and French.

Contes merveilleux, Tome I

La femme dans les contes et les romans de Voltaire University of Chicago Press

La métamorphose est le motif principal des récits merveilleux. Elle constitue l'essence même du processus de transmission de tout conte par l'appropriation que chaque nouveau conteur réalise dans sa parole vivante. Celle-ci n'est pas simple répétition, mais toujours un échange dont le change est donné sous le couvert des mots mêmes: il en est ainsi de ce Petit Chaperon Rouge inaugural que Charles Perrault aurait conçu en dialoguant tacitement avec Jean de la Fontaine dans le contexte de l'oralité savante de l'Académie française. Ce volume tient compte de la mutation que représente, depuis les bords de la mer Baltique jusqu'à l'Afrique et jusqu'aux terres d'Outre-Atlantique, l'émergence d'une convivialité culturelle internationale présente ici dans la voix de quelques conteurs, qu'il s'agisse des porte-parole de pays anciennement colonisés ou d'autres, soumis, il n'y a pas si longtemps, au joug des occupants. Le conte est l'expression d'une sagesse immémoriale, la revendication de particularismes inaliénables, le moyen le plus sûr de forger ou de ressouder une unité nationale en quête d'une identité renouvelée. Le livre offre surtout un foisonnement théorique et un va-et-vient de la culture populaire à la culture savante dans le jeu des lectures critiques: historienne, psychanalytique, anthropologique, littéraire. Le conte, Protée exerçant son mirage aux mille facettes, est le miroir où les chercheurs, conteurs à leur manière, explorent une «onde pure» et, néanmoins, si troublante...

When did fairy tales begin? What qualifies as a fairy tale? Is a true fairy tale oral or literary? Or is a fairy tale determined not by style but by content? To answer these and other questions, Jan M. Ziolkowski not only provides a comprehensive overview of the theoretical debates about fairy tale origins but includes an extensive discussion of the relationship of the fairy tale to both the written and oral sources. Ziolkowski offers interpretations of a sampling of the tales in order to sketch the complex connections that existed in the Middle Ages between oral folktales and their written equivalents, the variety of uses to which the writers applied the stories, and the diverse relationships between the medieval texts and the expressions of the same tales in the "classic" fairy tale collections of the nineteenth century. In so doing, Ziolkowski explores stories that survive in both versions associated with, on the one hand, such standards of the nineteenth-century fairy tale as the Brothers Grimm, Hans Christian Andersen, and Carlo Collodi and, on the other, medieval Latin, demonstrating that the literary fairy tale owes a great debt to the Latin literature of the medieval period. Jan M. Ziolkowski is the Arthur Kingsley Porter Professor of Medieval Latin at Harvard University.

Body Dialectics in the Age of Goethe Editions L'Harmattan

In opposition to an essentialist conceptualization, the social construct of the human body in literature can be analyzed and described by means of effective methodologies that are based on Discourse Theory, Theory of Cultural Transmission and Ecology, System Theory, and Media Theory. In this perspective, the body is perceived as a complex arrangement of substantiation, substitution, and omission depending on demands, expectations, and prohibitions of the dominant discourse network. The term Body-Dialectics stands for the attempt to decipher – and for a moment freeze – the web of such discursive arrangements that constitute the fictitious notion of the body in the framework of a specific historic environment, here in the Age of Goethe.
