The United Nations World Water Assessment Programme (WWAP) is hosted and led by UNESCO. WWAP brings together the work of 31 UN-Water Members and 38 Partners to publish The United Nations World Water Development Report, (WWDR) series. The annual World Water Development Reports focus on strategic water issues. UN-Water Members and Partners, all experts in their respective fields, contribute the latest findings on a specific theme. The 2017 edition of the World Water Development Report focuses on 'Wastewater' and seeks to inform decision-makers, inside and outside the water community, about the importance of managing wastewater as an undervalued and sustainable source of water, energy, nutrients and other recoverable by-products, rather than something to be disposed of or a nuisance to be ignored. The report's title - Wastewater: The Untapped Resource - reflects the critical role that wastewater is poised to play in the context of a circular economy, whereby economic development is balanced with the protection of natural resources and environmental sustainability, and where a cleaner and more sustainable economy has a positive effect on the water quality. Improved wastewater management is not only critical to achieving the Sustainable Development

Goal on clean water and sanitation (SDG 6), but also to other goals of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development.

Le changement de conception de la place de l'homme dans l'univers et le souci revendiqué de défendre la biodiversité ont revalorisé l'image du loup. Avec son retour dans les Alpes, le renversement de perspective crée un fossé au sein de l'opinion publique et accroît les tensions entre les acteurs des espaces pastoraux et les gestionnaires de l'environnement. Dans ce débat souvent passionné, les attaques de loups qui, des siècles durant, l'ont fait classer parmi les prédateurs les plus nuisibles sont remises en cause. Comme l'agression connotée la plus négativement, celle du loup considéré comme « mangeur d'hommes ». Pour circonscrire les enjeux d'une question si sensible, il importait d'y voir plus clair. De quels témoignages dispose-t-on et quelle en est la validité ? Comment distinguer les attaques d'animaux anthropophages des cas de rage ? Pour quelle évolution chronologique et quelle répartition géographique ? Comment identifier les agresseurs et quelle en fut la perception culturelle ? Quelles techniques de prédation étaient-elles mises en oeuvre ? Quel fut l'impact démographique et sociologique des attaques ? Quel risque effectif le loup fit-il peser sur l'homme ? Pour répondre à ces questions, l'ouvrage a mobilisé les témoignages et les travaux publiés sur plus de cinq siècles d'observation – de la guerre de Cent Ans à celle de 1914 – et rassemblé un corpus statistique de plus de 3000 actes de décès, de 1580 à 1830. Aucune synthèse historique n'avait engagé jusqu'ici une enquête aussi large sur l'ensemble du territoire français. Le travail est loin d'être terminé : l'ouvrage convie à élargir la recherche et à envisager les autres aspects du rapport entre le loup et l'homme. Car finalement, au-delà de l'explication donnée à un fait qui ne va plus de soi, l'étude réalisée renseigne davantage sur l'organisation spatiale des activités humaines que sur l'évolution biologique de l'animal. Le loup est un révélateur des choix de société.

Statement of the Assets and Liabilities of the Chartered Banks of Canada

Photographer Joseph Ford and knitting pro Nina Dodd have dedicated more hours than is reasonable to creating bespoke jumpers (for both humans and animals) that blend seamlessly into their surroundings - from bus seats to bushes, carpets to coastlines. The images are executed with such painstaking precision that should the camera, or jumper for that matter, move by an inch the illusion would unravel. The book will contain images featuring 25 knitted pieces alongside text including an introduction by a top arts writer.
