 The NBTs are split into two 3-hour exams, one is called AQL and the other MAT. The AQL focuses on Academic and Quantitative Literacy and the MAT focuses on Mathematics. Universities use the results of the NBTs to determine what extra support the learner may need at university. Universities also use the results to decide whether or not a learner's university application is successful.
 NBT Preparation Courses | Advantage Learn
 The MAT section is only for learners who study (or have passed) core Maths. If you study Mathematical Literacy then you will struggle to answer most MAT questions and should not write the MAT test. The only NBT Preparation you will need to do is for the AQL test.

 What to expect. The National Benchmark Tests (NBT) measure your academic readiness for University. Some South African universities use the NBTs in addition to the National Senior Certificate (NSC) for access to higher education, while others use the tests to determine the kind of learning support a student will need during their studies. Two days before the test for which you have registered, you will receive an sms and an email confirming your test venue.

 After careful consideration due to the unprecedented impact of the COVID-19 epidemic and lockdown measures, the University of Pretoria has decided not to use the National Benchmark Test (NBT) as part of the compulsory selection and admission requirements for the 2021 study-year. All Faculties impacted by this decision will communicate from 29 June 2020 or as soon as possible thereafter, with those applicants who now no longer need to write the NBT.
