Although effective fire sprinkler systems are crucial to public safety, for years, the designers of those systems had few published resources to reference and guide them through their design processes. The first edition of this book changed all that, and now The Design and Layout of Fire Sprinkler Systems Second

Edition suits their needs even better. Written and thoroughly updated by a fire prevention engineer with more than 20 years of experience, this book provides a complete, systematic introduction to automatic fire sprinkler design and layout, from design basics, code requirements, and pipe hanging to hydraulic calculations, retrofits, and details on fire pumps. The author carefully outlines all of a designer's responsibilities and includes an entire chapter dedicated to preparing for the NICET exam. More than 150 sample diagrams, checklists, sample forms, spec sheets, photographs, and a glossary complement the text, and the larger page size of this edition permits clear presentation of diagrams and schematics. The Design and Layout of Fire Sprinkler Systems not only builds the foundation and skills of newcomers to the field, but also provides an outstanding reference for fire safety professionals, building inspectors, insurance underwriters, and municipal officials.

A multi-scale ethnography of government pedagogy in Colombia and its impact on peace. Colombia's 2016 peace agreement with the FARC guerrillas sought to end fifty years of war and won President Juan Manuel Santos the Nobel Peace Prize. Yet Colombian society rejected it in a polarizing referendum, amid an emotive disinformation campaign. Gwen Burnyeat joined the Office of the High Commissioner for Peace, the government institution responsible for peace negotiations, to observe and participate in an innovative "peace pedagogy" strategy to explain the agreement to Colombian society. Burnyeat's multi-scale ethnography reveals the challenges government officials experienced communicating with skeptical audiences and translating the peace process for public opinion. She argues that the fatal flaw in the peace process lay in government-society relations, enmeshed in culturally liberal logics and shaped by the politics of international donors. The Face of Peace offers the Colombian case as a mirror to the global crisis of liberalism, shattering the fantasy of rationality that haunts liberal responses to "post-truth" politics. East Asian Executive Reports Forgotten Books

Excerpt from The Employment-Certificate System: A Safeguard for the Working Child

In talking with working children about the reason for their having left school for employment, frequently the reply is: I didn't like school and I wanted to work. Usually the reasons are found to be economic or educational maladjustments of the individual child. It is obvious that if we are to succeed in keeping children in school until they have had a chance for an education some means must be provided of finding out, understanding. And remedying the individual child's difficulties. His problems must be discovered before they have loomed so large in his limited experience as to determine an unwise course, or before they have become such serious difficulties as to handicap him permanently. It has been found advisable in a number of communities to secure the services of visiting teachers not to get the child back to school but to prevent the unfortunate, unconscious drive out from school which results when the school fails to see and understand and remedy each child's individual problem. The aim of the visiting teacher is to adjust the conditions, in the lives of individual children, that retard development and school progress and that are responsible for school conduct, scholarship, or attendance.
