Shí'ism or Shí'a Islam is the second largest sect of the Muslim world. The central theme of Shí'a theology is the position, rights, and qualities that the Imams of Ahlul Bayt possess. Sayyid Muhammad Rizvi starts with a brief discussion on the origin of the Shí'a Islamic faith, and whether it was political in nature or religious. In Chapter II, he surveys the self-censorship exercised by Muslim historians at early as well as modern eras, and how events related to Shí'ism were suppressed in order to appease the rulers. Chapter III expounds on how the Orientalists have dealt with the Ghadr Khumm event: either it is ignored or if quoted, then interpreted to safeguard the interest of the majority Muslims. S.M. Rizvi also discusses the literal and contextual meaning of "mawla" which has great bearing on the issue of Imāmat and khilāfat of 'Ali bin Abí Tālib. Chapter IV, he surveys the current dispute on the explicitness versus implicitness of 'Ali's appointment to the position of imāmate and Khālifat. This is followed by a chapter on the concept of 'Ahlul Bayt' in the Qur'ān and the sunnah. Chapter VI deals with the wilāyat, the position and authority of the Imam, and its scope from the Qur'ānic point of view. The treatise ends with a discussion on the esoteric knowledge that the Prophets and the Imams possess and its relevance to their personal life.

The nationwide lockdown in 2020 to curb the spread of Covid-19 left millions of migrant labourers without jobs, food and shelter. Desperate and helpless, most took to the road, embarking on the long, often fatal, journey home. Ritesh, Ashish, Ram Babu, Sonu, Krishna, Sandeep and Mukesh-migrants from Bihar-undertook a similar journey on their bicycles that lasted for seven days and seven nights. Their harrowing trip from Ghaziabad, Uttar Pradesh, to their hometown of Saharsa as they braved police lathis and insults, and battled hunger, exhaustion and fear, was documented by National Award-winning filmmaker Vinod Kapri. 1232 km is a story of the extraordinary courage of seven men in the face of tremendous odds.

The Modern Vernacular Literature of Hindustan Popular Prakashan

Mirza Asadullah Khan (1797-1869), popularly, Ghalib, is the most influential poet of the Urdu language. He is noted for the ghazals he wrote during his lifetime, which have since been interpreted and sung by different people in myriad ways. Ghalib's popularity has today extended beyond the Indian subcontinent to the Hindustani diaspora around the world. In this book, Gopi Chand Narang studies Ghalib's poetics by tracing the archetypal roots of his creative consciousness and enigmatic thought in Buddhist dialectical philosophy, particularly in the concept of shunyata. He underscores the importance of the Mughal era's Sabke Hindi poetry, especially through Bedil, whom Ghalib considered his mentor. The author also engages with Ghalib criticism that has flourished since his death and analyses the important works of the poet, including pieces from early Nuskhas and Divan-e Ghalib, strengthening this central argument. Much has been written about Ghalib's life and his poetry. A marked departure from this dominant trend, Narang's book looks at Ghalib from different angles and places him in the galaxy of the great Eastern poets, stretching far beyond the boundaries of India and the Urdu language.

We are extremely excited to have partnered with Songdew to celebrate and honor the eminent Urdu poet and lyricist, Late Dr Rahat Indori. Through couplets, ghazals and poems on a range of topics and social issues such as the status of women in society, he gained an unmatched status in the world of poetry as his work resonates with each and every generation. As an ode to him, we are happy to be part of a tribute dedicated to him and his exceptional work. This initiative gives upcoming artists a chance to showcase their talent on a national platform through their compositions based on Rahat ji's work. All the nine artists are extremely talented and it is an absolute pleasure to present their songs to all the avid music admirers. Also, just like Rahat ji's words weaved our imagination with hope, laughter and love; it's also equally marveling to see artists reimagining the lyrics and transforming his words into vivid paintings. This collaboration is our bid to memorialize him and his work for our listeners that cherish him and his legacy. - Sunil Kumaran (Big FM)

Folk performances reflect the life-worlds of a vast section of subaltern communities in India. What is the philosophy that drives these performances, the vision that enables as well as enslaves these communities to present what they feel, think, imagine, and want to see? Can such performances challenge social hierarchies and ensure justice in a caste-ridden society? In Cultural Labour, the author studies bhuiyan puja (land worship), bidesia (theatre of migrant labourers), Reshma-Chuharmal (Dalit ballads), dugola (singing duels) from Bihar, and the songs and performances of Gaddar, who was associated with Jana Natya Mandali, Telangana: he examines various ways in which meanings and behaviour are engendered in communities through rituals, theatre, and enactments. Focusing on various motifs of landscape, materiality, and performance, the author looks at the relationship between culture and labour in its immediate contexts. Based on an extensive ethnography and the author's own life experience as a member of such a community, the book offers a new conceptual framework to understand the politics and aesthetics of folk performance in the light of contemporary theories of theatre and performance studies.
