Screenwriting Lessons 110 Stories New York Writes 110 Stories: New York Writes After September 11. New York is a city of writers. And when the city was attacked on 9/11, its writers began to do what writers do, they began to look and feel and think and write, began to struggle to process an event unimaginable before, and even after, it happened. 110 Stories: New York Writes After September 11 by Art ... From a stunning lineup of 110 renowned and emerging writers—including Paul Auster, Lynne Sharon Schwartz, Edwidge Danticat, Vivian Gornick, Phillip Lopate, Dennis Nurkse, Melvin Bukiet, Susan Wheeler—these stories give readers not so much an analysis of what happened as the very shape and texture of a city in crisis, what it felt like to be here, the external and internal damage that the city and its inhabitants absorbed in the space and the aftermath of a few unforgettable hours. 110 Stories - NYU Press The work of journalists appeared immediately, in news reports, commentaries, and personal essays. But no single collection has yet recorded how New York writers of fiction, poetry, and dramatic prose have responded to 9/11. ... These selections are indeed what Baer characterizes as "110 passages through silence to the first stirrings of a story, to the instant when event becomes tale, when loss gives rise to words." He adds that New York "lives and feeds on its stories, creates tall tales, half-lies and mythologies about itself on which its future depends."
