"Clif Christopher is a gift to the Church. His efforts to help churches leaders and individuals to understand the relationship of giving to a devoted faith and the Kingdom of God have had an incalculable impact." Adam Hamilton, author of When Christians Get it Wrong "No one knows money better than Clif Christopher. In this sequel to his best-selling book, Not Your Parents' Offering Plate, Christopher answers real life questions about money and the church that he has been asked over the years in his work in fund raising.

As always he pulls no punches. You can trust what you read in this book." Bill Easum, coauthor of Ministry in Hard Times "Clif Christopher answers the questions most on the minds of pastors and congregational leaders today about the challenges and opportunities of funding the church's mission. His straightforward writing, growing out of real world experience and deep faith commitment, makes this book immediately useful." Lovett H. Weems, Jr., author of Take the Next Step. Leading Lasting Change in the Church "Whose Offering Plate Is It? is an excellent companion piece to J. Clif Christopher's earlier book Not Your Parents' Offering Plate. In his newest book Christopher addresses the many practical 'how to and 'what does this mean' questions raised in his earlier challenging and ground-breaking book. Once again,

Christopher proves to be a savvy and earthy guide as he writes with a candid, no-frills flair which connects with pastors and lay church leaders." William G. Enright, Ph.D., Director of the Lake Institute on Faith & Giving, The Center on Philanthropy at Indiana University Whose Offering Plate is It? Zondervan

Is gospel Christianity dead? Pundits are writing the obituary of historic, orthodox Christianity, but pastor and author J. D. Greear (Gospel, Stop Asking Jesus into Your Heart) believes the postmortems are premature. Jesus promised to build his church. He said that the gates of hell would not prevail against it. The church is not going away. Along with this promise, Jesus gave clear instructions for how the church would prevail. He promised to build it on the rock of the gospel. The most pressing need for Christianity today is not a new strategy. It is not an updated message. It is a return to keeping the gospel above all.

What's new about this third edition of the long respected and often used Church Administration Handbook? In addition to time and technological-sensitive updates to the basic organizational details, editor Bruce Powers writes: "The needs of people and churches have continued to change, with questions now being raised about the quality of congregational life, nature of leadership, and responsibility for ministry among all believers . . . As we have prepared this edition, we have sought to address five primary needs. 1. Leadership skills and administrative tools that can be adapted for use in a variety of contexts from traditional to contemporary, from rural to urban, and from unicultural to multicultural settings; 2. Spiritual formation that relates to all of life (from birth to death); 3. Mission consciousness (in community, regionally, nationally, and globally); 4. Ministry of all believers (particularly calling out and equipping vocational, bivocational, and lay ministers); and 5. Leadership competence (the ability to inspire, motivate, and equip the saints for the work of ministry)."
